Calculus (from Latin calculus, literally 'small pebble', used for counting and calculations, as on an abacus) is the mathematical study of continuous change, in the same way that geometry is the study of shape and algebra is the study of generalizations of arithmetic operations.. It has two major branches, differential calculus (concerning instantaneous rates of change and slopes of curves ...

The limits of integration are often not easily interchangeable (without normality or with complex formulae to integrate). One makes a change of variables to rewrite the integral in a more "comfortable" region, which can be described in simpler formulae. To do so, the function must be adapted to the new coordinates.

Which theories & explanations make the most sense? So far, the two leading theories are that we're sliding between parallel (or similar) realities, or that we've visited holodecks (and may be in one, right now) that have some glitches. However, those concepts are broad. I've been trying to narrow the possibilities. Initially, I've been searching!
